ROUGH ON RATS ENDED GEORGE SPECHT'S LIFE

No One Believed Him When He Said That He Had Taken It.

RATHER A PECULIAR SUICIDE

Being Dissipated He Was Sent Away from His Home.

Had Asked a Friend to Sleep with Him, and Twelve Hours After He Had Swallowed the Poison He Was Found Dead-Excessive Drinking the Alleged Cause of the Fatal Dose End of a Shiftless Life.

They were all laughing about George

"Did you hear about him?" his friends were aying. "The fool has taken polson."

It was so hard to believe that no one really placed any reliance in the story, although it was told that Specht said broself that he had taken two tenspoonsful of "rough on rats." Therefore the intelligence came like a shock when the lad died at the Emergency Hospital about 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Some of the features of the suicide are peculiar. Specht was about twenty-three years old. His mother lives at No. 1912 K street. Owing to dissolute and wayward habits Specht was lately to d by his mother that she could support him no longer an idleness, and be took up his residence at the ness, and be took up his residence at the boarding house of Mrs. Barker, at No. 517 Thirteenth street. He was very frieadly with his innalady's two sons, George and Irving. Whisky was the principal cause of young Specht's downfall, and his dissolute habits caused his mother to turn him from the door. The death of his brother, Ed. also preyed upon the sensitive mind of the young man, and it was intely remarked that he was very meiancholy. Within he was generous and kind-hearied. Some time ago he was discharged from Albaugh's Theater, where he had been working as a scene shilter, and since that time has been earning his living by doing

ODD JOES ABOUT THE PLAY-HOUSES. About a month ago Specht was robbed of two diamond rings while lying in a drunken follower is now under bond charged with the theft. It is supposed there were three of the thieves, but the others have not been eaught. Shortly before 12 o'clock Seturday night Specht met a number of his associates in Milovitch's adoor, next to the National Theater, and looked very glum.

"What's the malter with you, George?" he was sated.

"What's the matter with you, George?" he was asked
"I've swallowed rough on rats," he declared. "Took two tesspoonsfut. See here."
Then he showed the box and the spoon, and said he was going to take some mere. Some one grabbed the arsenkeal preparation and the spoon, and then went our for a policeman. He found Patrolman Barry, who hastened to the saleon.

Virehand Ghandi Contrasts the Eastern and Western Philosophies

Mr. Virehand Ghandi, of Bombay, spoke esterday at 3 p. m., at Typographical Temple, on "The potencies of mind and matter."

He said that the Juns are belie ers in exact definitions of terms that they use in philosophy, and that the word "mind" is used by Western philosophers as the equiva-ent of the word "soul" as used in theology. The Jains define the -oal as that which knows, while they they define matter as that Materialists say that nothing can exist for them except what they can test by the senses. Matter can only know what a thing is and not what it ought to be. Science says that no element of matter can be changed, but it ignores the fact that it does not know what cannot know whether a substance has been reduced to its ultimate elements. luced to its ultimate elements.

He spoke of thought transference, and said

Sent a Note to Her Requesting Her to Meet . Him at a Neighboring Grocery-Autopsy en Mrs. Leahy's Body-Three of the Wounds She Received Were Necessarily Fatal-Inquest to Be Held This Morning.

The narrow confines of cell No. 8 in the Ninth precinct police station held yesterday a murderer full of pride and boast ng of his bloody net in the person of Joseph A. Beam. In the house at No. 226 Maryland avenue, where Mrs. Annie L. Leahy had been so eruelly shot to death by her stepfather, gloom and sorrow held sway. Many friends of the family called to administer consolation, but Mrs. Beam is p ostrated by the s book of her

An inquest will be held by Coroner Hammett at 11 o'clock this morning at Mitchell's undertaking establishment, on Ninth street southeast. Only enough witnesses to tell the whole story of the tragedy have been summoned, and enough testimony will be given to hold Beam to await the action of the grand jury. The jury summened to hear the testimony

The jury summened to hear the testim by comprises the following: Edwin F. Burke, Georga W. Thomas, Mark Josephs, W. H. Brown, James D. Burn, and H. D. Taylor. All are residents of the northeast part of the city except Mr. Thomas. The inquest will be brief and to the point, as there is no mystery about the same except party and the same except party and the same except party are the same except party and t about the case, except, perhaps, THE MOTIVE FOR THE CRIME. The fact that Beam first tried to see his OF HIS FOUL DEED wife, whom he hypoeritically calls "mother," and says he holds sacred, leads many people acquainted with the facts to believe that he would have killed her had she gone to meet him as he desired. That theory is held by the majority of people, and it is believed that majority of people, and it is believed that Beam went to the house determined to end the existence of the first member of the family he should meet.
